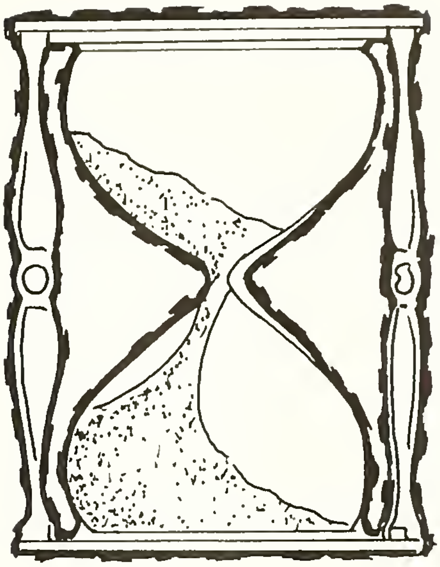
TO HOUR



See how the generations pass
Like sand through Heaven's blue hourglass.
—Nicholas Vachel Lindsay

Looking back at this past year we remember many pleasant times which helped to form another segment of our lives. In each hour of each day we acquired some new knowledge and were guided toward our goals with helpful advice from the faculty and administration. After homework was finished, much spare time was utilized for extra curricular activities. Many students participated in sports and many more actively supported them. Whether it was a German Club bake sale or a Biology Club car wash, organizations played an important role in the lives of many and often involved them in activities of the community. Part-time jobs assisted in preparing students for the future as the thoughts of seniors turned to the time of graduation and daydreams of underclassmen were dominated by visions of summer vacation. These experiences combined with many others to make this year a memorable time in the lives of all Clay High School students.

The following eight pages are meant to represent a cross-section of activities of the entire student body. For this reason individuals are not identified.

THE COMMU
CONGREGATI
CHURCH

Working together
on the bonfire that almost got away,
the rainy day carwashes,
and the bake sales without enough food,
added to the excitement of Southern Splendor,
and Sadie Hawkins marriages, brought a feeling of belonging we couldn't get from books alone.
We were all reached in some way by the program schedule mix-ups, Viet Nam War Moratoriums,
and the cafeteria's creative dishes.
Some will remember a late bus on a freezing winter morning, eye operation movies in health class, and the frustration of using their combination on their friend's locker. Others experienced getting locked in the courtyard, or a problem with the non-skid floors after Christmas,
but we will all remember the times we shared together at Clay High School.

Alone we achieved
the completion of a term paper,
the notification of college acceptance, scholarships for further education,
passing of a geometry test, and the satisfaction of finally getting the capitals in proportion to the lower case letters.
Mastering the ability to make a buttonhole, confidence in speaking before a crowd, the reaching of our 50 words a minute goal in typing and the development of our talents in music, helped broaden our skills for future use.
We gained pride with the acquisition of our driver's license, a first place in the regional science fair,
and the earning of the title "silly-silly sophomore."
Through personal effort, we experienced a sense of fulfillment from the pleasing aroma of our own baking, and the eventual learning of all the amendments to the United States Constitution.
With these and other accomplishments.
we prepared ourselves for the challenge of the times to be encountered in the new decade.

6

Through sports we achieved the fulfillment of winning a cross-country ribbon, tying the butterfly record, getting a hole-in-one, or returning a good serve. We experienced the satisfaction of knowing our team played its best in the face of defeat as well as victory. Whether through team cooperation, individual effort, or spectator involvement we were all encouraged by the roar of an enthusiastic crowd, the receiving of a long pass, the slamming of a home run, and the setting of a long jump record. Along with the victories came the disappointment of slipping on wet grass, fouling out, fumbling the ball, being pinned, or striking out. Through the entire year all of us gave support to the activities of the Athletic Department of Clay High School.

Colonials Show Spirit

Spirit Queen Donna Buzas

Donna Buzas, the most spirited senior girl, is escorted by Tom Popovic at Football Homecoming.

Cheerleaders Shelley Amor, Louann Lang, Pam Nelson, Becky Luebben, Laurie Bridge, and Lori Meyer celebrate a victory with a rousing cheer.

Colonials Have SPIRIT

Colonial spirit is displayed through one of the many decorations at the Homecoming dance.

School spirit was a vital part in the life of every Colonial. Pep sessions provided a chance for competition for the spirit jug, while hall signs and decorations revealed enthusiasm for coming events. In addition to sports, spirit was displayed through scholastic achievement and citizenship of each student.

Laurie is Crowned Queen

A roaring bonfire, a tension packed game, and a never-ending spirit all created Homecoming 1969. Enthusiasm was displayed from the first preparations to the final dance. The festivities began with the traditional bonfire on Thursday night. The game with Marian was climaxed by the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and her court. Afterwards, Clayites danced and enjoyed the music of the Mystic Love.

Boys Collect Tickets

Collecting the most talking tickets was the goal of many boys on October 31, 1969. When a Y-Teen was forced to talk, she handed out a ticket costing her five cents. Having the most tickets, Fred Lowman was crowned Mr. Irresistible. Others crowned were Stan Estes, Larry Emrick, Paul Porowski, Richard Green, Randy Replogle, and Steve Deranek. The most talkative girl was Laura Dodge, Miss Gabby.

Randy Replogle is congratulated by Pam Bybee as she pins on a carnation and crowns him Mr. Popular.

Debbie Lloyd presents Mr. Darling, Richard Green, with a kiss.

A popular song by the Confederation of Sound starts off the evening.

Miss Gabby, Laura Dodge, dances with Mr. Irresistible of 1968, Kevin Cartwright.

Dance Begins Holidays

On December 20, 1969, Clayites welcomed the Christmas season with the annual Christmas Dance. Held in the cafeteria this year instead of the gym, Christmas spirit was high amidst snowflakes, stars, and a miniature Santa's sleigh. Couples mingled over punch and cookies and danced to the music of Eddie Jarrett and his Orchestra. The Student Council sponsored the event, and Kathy Wagner was decorations committee head.

Jean Green and Dick Barlow swing to the music of Eddie Jarrett.

Homecoming Victory

School Spirit Week began the festivities of Clay's third annual Basketball Homecoming. During this week a hall decorating contest was held with the Junior class winning the Spirit Jug for the best decorations. On Friday of Spirit Week, the five senior girls on the Homecoming Court were announced at a pep assembly. Highlighting the week was the game against New Prairie which the Colonials won by a score of 74–62. Queen Laurie Bridge was crowned during the half-time ceremonies. Ending an exciting week was the Homecoming dance, where Colonials danced to the music of Talisman. Co-chairmen for Basketball Homecoming were Pat Zoller and Despie Fausch.

Loyal fans spur their team to victory with the school song.

Daisy Snatches Abner

After a long chase, Debbie "Daisy Mae" Ake finally catches Larry "Li'l Abner" Cripe and prepares to drag him to the altar.

Old tires and tree stumps helped create a picturesque dogpatch for the Sadie Hawkins Dance on March 21, 1969. Couples danced to the music of the Cambridge 5 and got "hitched" by Marryin' Sam. Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae, Larry Cripe and Debbie Ake.

Dogpatch guys and gals form a line to be "keerectly and propurly hitched" by Marryin' Sam.

Clay's own Marryin' Sam, Mr. Stuart Cohn, performs his official duties as Justice of the Peace.

Royalty Reigns at Prom

President of 1968-69 Junior class, Phil Rarick, presents Queen Judy Pillman with a bouquet of roses.

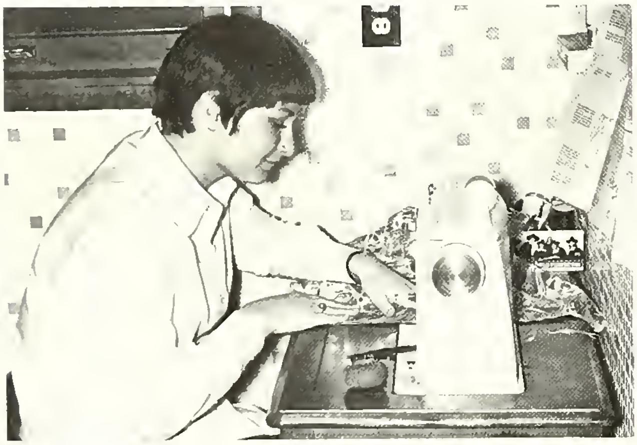
A garden and a majestic ballroom set the theme for the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom, SOUTHERN SPLENDOR, held on May 17. Eddie Knight's Orchestra provided music for the evening where Queen Judy Pillman and King Larry Cripe were crowned. Couples finished a memorable evening at the after-prom activities at the Niles YMCA.

Co-chairmen Lynn Lee and Kathy Jackson add finishing touches to prom decorations.

Rimke Comes to Clay

After working hard to find a qualifying family, the AFS committee found an American home for Rimke Haringsma. Coming to Clay from Sassenheim, Holland, Rimke spent the year in the home of senior, Martha Suter. Although her own family consisted of two brothers and two sisters, Rimke had no problem adjusting to life with twelve American brothers and sisters. Rimke found time for many extra-curricular activities in spite of a busy schedule consisting of Government-Sociology, Chemistry II, English IV, Speech, and Spanish I.

Rimke has a lively existence with twelve American brothers and sisters.



Rimke enjoys sewing in her spare time.

SO RUNS LIFE

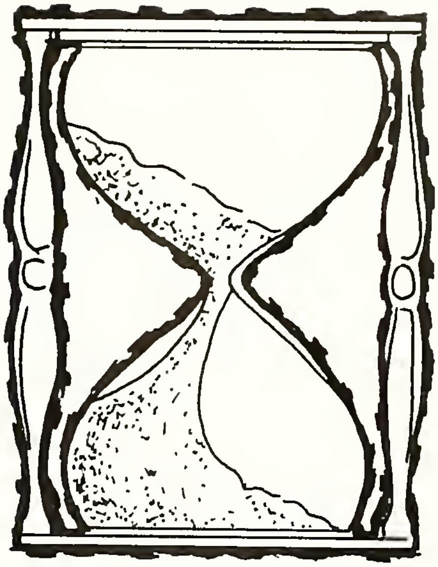
CLASSES



In classes
we sat through lectures,
took notes, and crammed for tests.
We made music, painted pictures, struggled with algebra problems,
experimented with plants, and typed business letters. We used the library for reading books, making extra reports, and skimming through the latest issues of news magazines. Movies, guest speakers, and the using of tape recorders helped to break the monotony in some of the less exciting classes. Our routine was also changed when, during the five-minute break,
we pushed our way through crowded halls,
stopping to talk with friends,
and when we celebrated special occasions with parties and assemblies.
After nine months of study,
we were ready for summer vacation—always looking forward to the future but remembering our times at Clay High School.

Principals Guide Students

Mr. Phillip R. Ell, Principal

Mr. Robert J. Sikorski, Assistant Principal

Mr. Sikorski and Mr. Ell watch the bonfire at Homecoming.

Striving to make Clay a better school was one of the main goals of Mr. Ell and Mr. Sikorski. Throughout the school year, the administration worked with students to create new ideas and promote better understanding between teachers and students. The administration was assisted by the secretarial staff composed of Mrs. Frances Lein, head secretary to Mr. Ell; Mrs. Lucille York, attendance secretary to Mr. Sikorski; Mrs. Cleo Eisbrenner, financial secretary; and Mrs. Mary Thomas, guidance secretary.

Guidance Aids Students

Sponsoring various events including the S.A.T., College Board Examinations, and the Betty Crocker Test were only a few of the activities of the Guidance Department. Through Monday night counseling, students, parents, and teachers were able to solve many problems concerning school. Arrangements were made for representatives from over sixty schools of higher education to visit with students. Activities also included ninth grade orientation and testing.

Mrs. Patricia Sloan . . . M.A. Ball State . . . Head Guidance Counselor . . . favorite song is "The Impossible Dream."

Mr. Robert Turnock . . . M.S. Indiana State . . . Guidance Counselor . . . enjoys reading.

Mr. James Reinebold . . . M.A. Notre Dame . . . Guidance Counselor . . . was in "Who's Who in American High Schools and Colleges" in high school

Representative from Hanover College, Scott Beisel, who is a Clay graduate, advises students on their choice of college.

Diann Wisniewski discusses the results of her S.A.T. test with Mr. Turnock.

Students Enjoy Services

Mrs. Helen Manuszak—Nurse

Along with their regular classes, students were offered many special services throughout the year. Study halls provided valuable time for completing unfinished homework. Health services were provided for any student who became ill or injured during the school day. The library contained books, research material, magazines, and newspapers that were essential for many classes. Students with speech difficulties were aided by speech correction classes offered every Friday.

Curriculum Changes

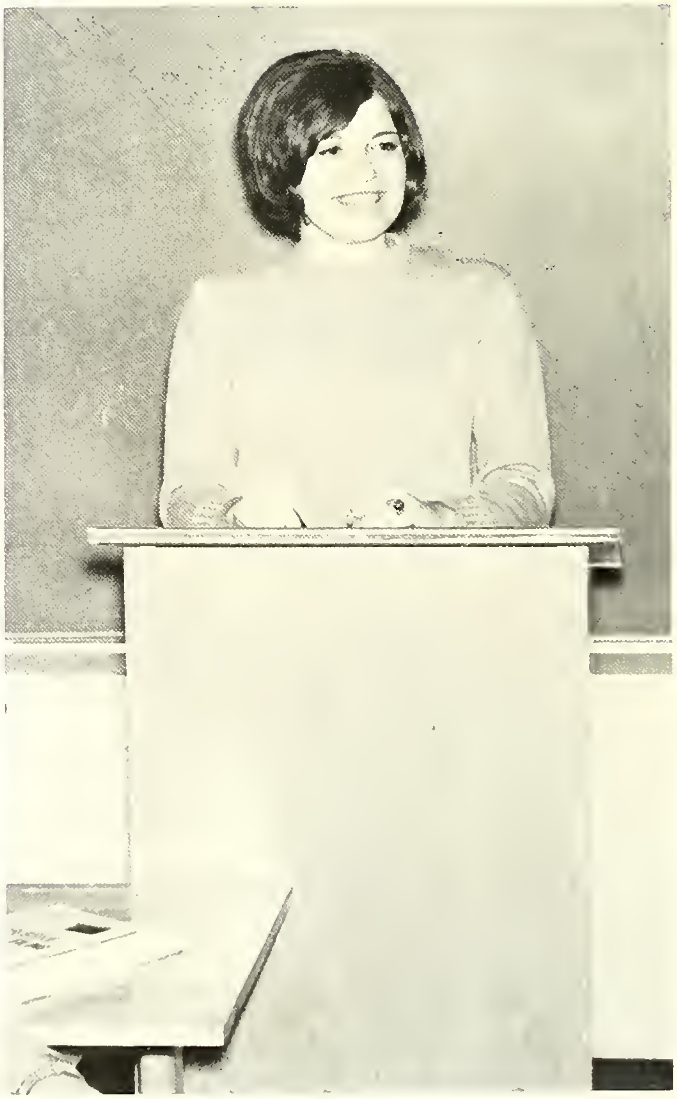
English literature was no longer a senior subject this year. Juniors were able to study American literature half the year, and English literature the second half. This left the choice of subjects for senior English classes up to the individual teachers. English improved a student's opportunities to learn and communicate more effectively with others. Through grammar, themes, and novels this was accomplished.

Mr. John Mouros . . . M.A Notre Dame . . . English . . . enjoys semi-classical music.

Miss Sheila Dempsey . . . B.A Clarke . . . English . . . occasionally assists with Speech and Debate activities.

Mrs. Sandra Rowe . . . B.S. Ball State . . . English . . . is a cat lover.

Kathy DeVoe brightens up the classroom with bulletin board decorations.



Barbara Frepan presents an oral report from the speaker's stand.

Mr. David Matson . . . M.A.T. Notre Dame . . . English . . . enjoys playing golf in his spare time.

Mrs. Maryland Lipscomb . . . B.S. Tennessee State . . . English . . . was a high school cheerleader.

Miss Clare Groner . . . M.A. Notre Dame . . . English, Journalism . . . is interested in ceramics.

Mr. Robert Krause . . . M.A. Notre Dame . . . English . . . previously taught at Adams and LaSalle.

Sharon Hardman and Bob Hibiske enjoy a unit in poetry.

Sue Fenters, Mary Newcomer, and Karen Wiggins gather additional information for their research papers at the Public Library.

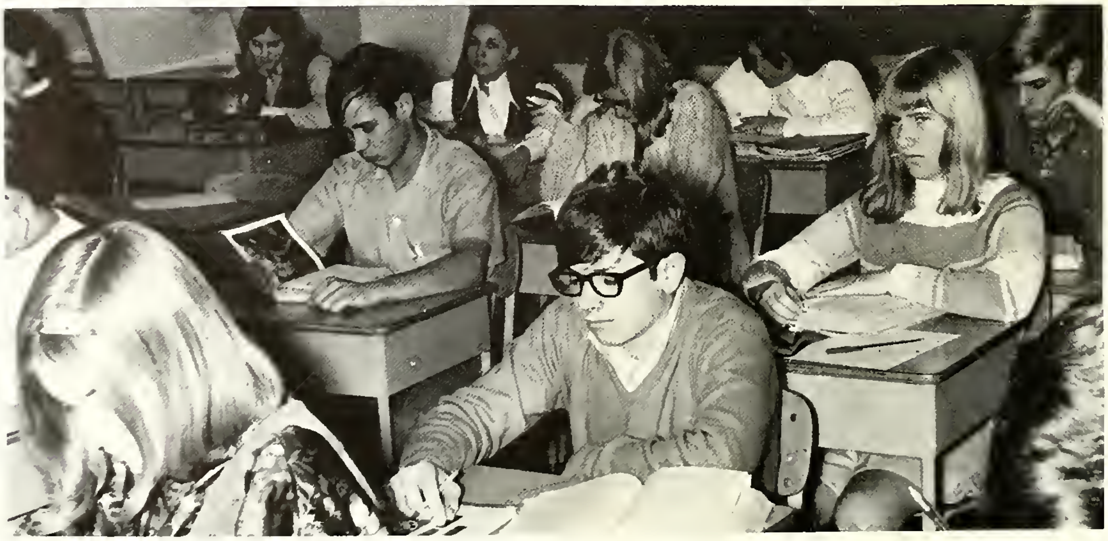
Freshmen Study Dickens

Mr. Paul Ott, student teacher for Mr. Krause, explains existentialism

Miss Ruth Yeager . . . B.A. DePauw . . . English, Speech . . . enjoys camping.

Mr. Daniel Kasper . . . B.S. Ind . . . English, U.S. History . . . enjoys softball and basketball.

Mr. Ralph Radecki . . . B.A. St. Edward's . . . English, Latin . . . is assisting sponsor for Student Council.



Freshman English students carefully study a novel by Charles Dickens.

Classes Study Cultures

Mr. Alphonse Aguirre . . . M.A.
Notre Dame . . . Spanish is sponsor of the Spanish Club

Mrs. Jessie Schille . . . B. of Ed.
Eastern Illinois . . . French, English . . . favorite song is
"Autumn Leaves."

Miss Margaret Coen . . . B.A.

. . . enjoys candlemaking

Mr. Charles Reavis . . . B.A.
Ball State . . . German enjoys watching "Star Trek."

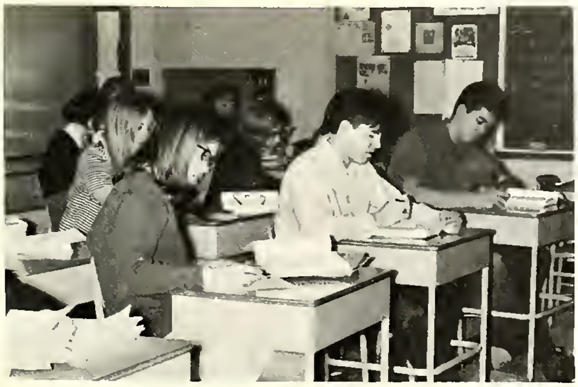
Charla Gibson listens carefully to dictation in her foreign language class.

Juergen Voss writes his German assignment on the blackboard.

Grammar and language structure were only a small part of the foreign language department. French, Spanish, German, and Latin students studied the culture and geography of other countries, and looked deeply into the history and background of the people. Movies and tapes provided a wider view of the different cultures, while language clubs enabled students to have personal experiences with international dress, food, and customs.



Spanish students study for a future test.

French grammar can be a perplexing problem for many students.

Classes Study

Mr Eldon Fretz . . . M.A. Notre Dame . . . World History, U.S. History . . . enjoys vegetable gardening.

Mr. John Stinson . . . M.S. Ind . . . U.S. History . . . favorite songs are ballads.

Mr. Charles Martin . . . B.S. Ball State . . . Contemporary Society, Introduction to Social Studies . . . enjoys dancing.

Mr. Leon DeWitte . . . B.S. Purdue . . . Government-Sociology, Introduction to Social Studies . . . worked on high school yearbook.

COLONIAL GRANTS

Diane Robinson points out cities in Mexico important to American History.

A new program was inaugurated into the ninth grade Social Studies department this year. Two classes of ninth graders under the leadership of Mr. Meredith Huston studied Comparative Political Systems and Comparative Economic Systems. This course is based on extensive experimentation throughout the United States. Contemporary Society classes spent a year deeply involved in the study of our society's problems, with the help of films, records, and special speakers. Plans were made for a new advanced placement class in United States History.

Political Systems

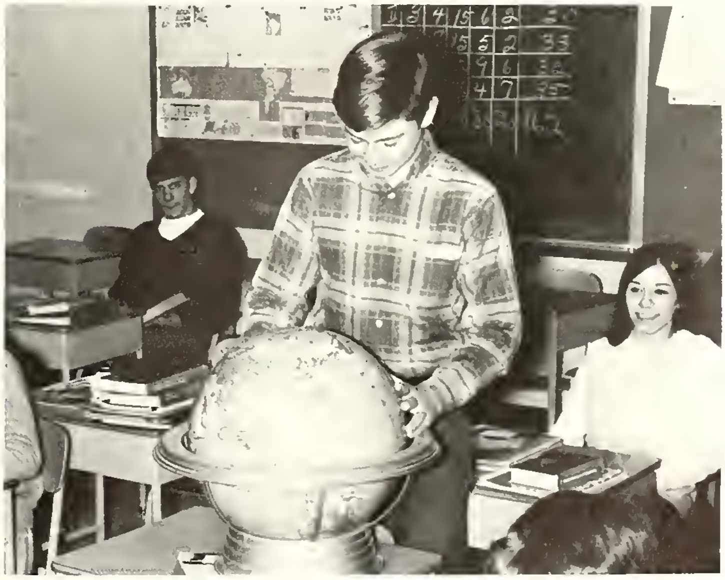
Mr. Milton Harke . . . M.A. Columbia . . . U.S. History, Introduction to Social Studies . . . has visited forty-seven of the fifty states.

Mr. James Spears . . . B.S. Indiana . . . Government-Sociology . . . is interested in spelunking in Southern Indiana and Kentucky.

Mr. Meredith Huston . . . M.A. Western Michigan . . . Introduction to Social Studies, Comparative Political Systems . . . enjoys weight-lifting.

U.S. Senator Vance Hartke presents Kathy Jackson with the United States Senate Youth Program Scholarship, which went to only two students in the state.

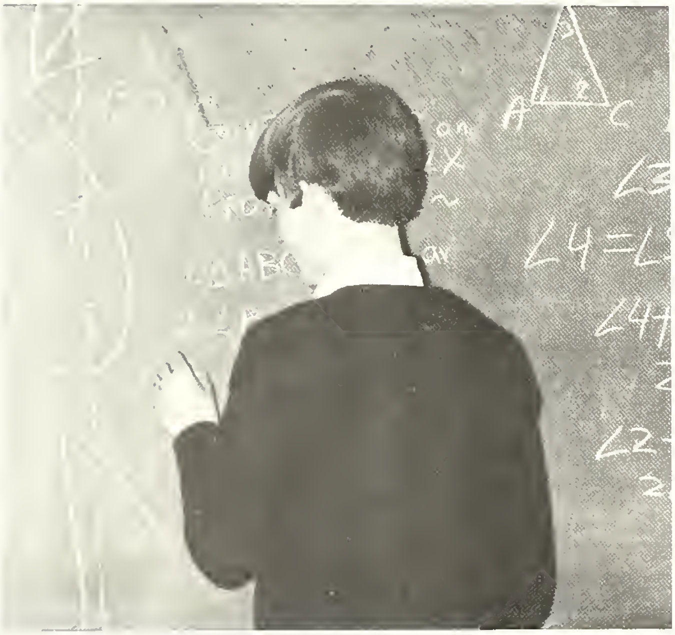
Karen Ralstin and Kathy O'Dell discuss facts of the Constitution.



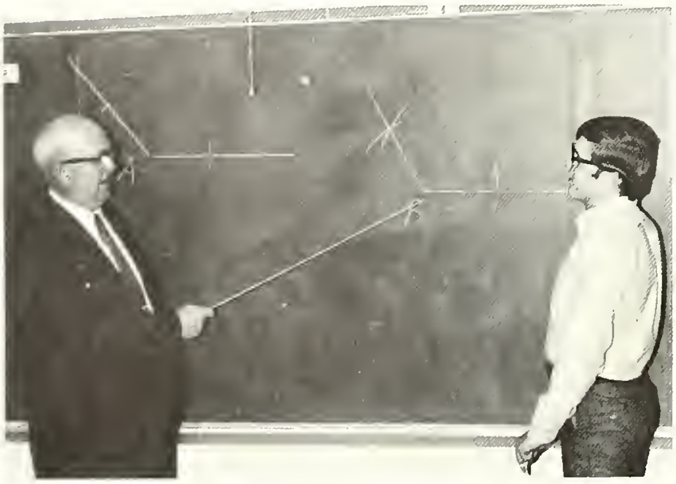
Jim Kumle studies the locations of conflict in the world.

Students Probe into

For the first time in Clay's history, advanced placement algebra was added to the math curriculum. Students taking this course and subsequent advanced courses will complete calculus, which is a freshman or sophomore subject in college. Other courses included high school mathematics, geometry, algebra-trigonometry, and analytical calculus. Students were able to probe deeper into math through building geometrical models and solving many difficult equations and problems.



A plane geometry student solves a proof from only a few given facts.



Mr. Felton shows Kevin Butterbaugh the proper way to measure angle B.

Mrs. Muriel Goheen . . . B.A. Ind . . . Algebra, Business Math . . . enjoys knitting.

Mrs. Frances Seward . . . M.S. Butler . . . College Algebra, Elementary Algebra . . . loves to travel.

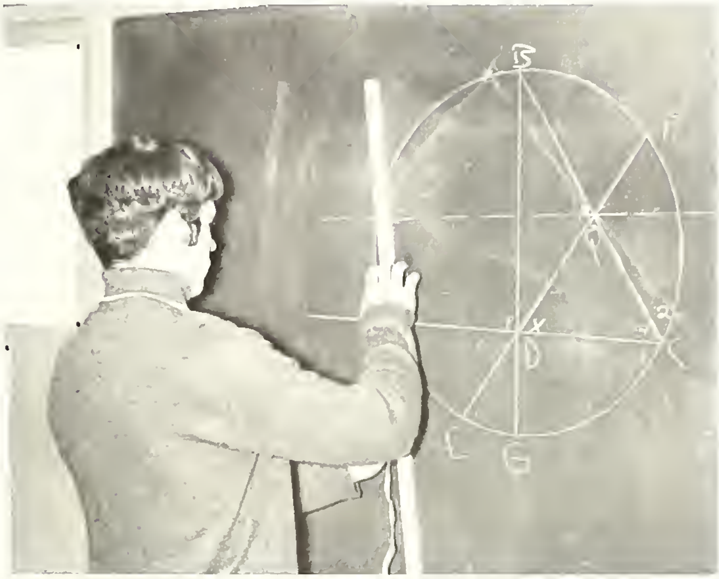
Mr. Virtus Felton . . . B.S. Western Michigan . . . Geometry, Trade Math . . . is Audio-Visual sponsor

In Memoriam—Col. Andrew M. Dunn

Mathematical Problems

Mrs. Patricia Cole . . . B.S. Talladega . . . Geometry, Algebra . . . likes to travel.

Mr James Gerhold . . . B.A. DePauw . . . Algebra, High School Mathematics . . . enjoys woodworking.



Joel Beckman works to construct a tangent parallel to line segment GB

Mr Mark Brumbaugh . . . M.S. Ind . . . Algebra-Trigonometry, Analytical Calculus, Geometry, High School Mathematics . . . enjoys bowling

Miss Sheila McIntosh . . . M.A. Notre Dame . . . Algebra-Trigonometry, Algebra, General Math . . . graduated first in high school class

Debbie Lane finds the overhead projector useful in explaining quadratic equations.

Research is Performed

Tom Kinney prepares his equipment for an important experiment in chemistry.

Mr. Galon Miller . . . M.A. Ball State . . . Biology . . . enjoys photography and tape recording.

Mr. Lloyd Johnson . . . M.A. Ball State . . . Biology . . . was third in his graduating class.

Mr. Norris Lockman . . . M.A. Indiana State . . . Chemistry, Biology . . . is Senior class head sponsor.

Mr. Howard Smith . . . M.A. Indiana Univ. . . . Physics, Physical Science . . . previously taught in Greene Township

Mr. John Feather . . . B.S. Michigan State . . . Biology, Physical Science . . . is interested in aviation

Laura Dodge takes notes as Mr. Johnson explains his findings.

Barb Snell finds that the exact amount of solution is important for an accurate chemistry experiment.

Research and investigation were a vital part of science classes. Using many facilities students were able to probe into areas, including studying microscopic life, performing chemistry experiments, and working with laws of motion. For the first time there was a class of Biology III students only, who were required to write and present oral reports on a major research project.

Dick Barlow prepares a plant in the greenhouse for a special project on the growth of plants.

Randy Marciniak hunts for microscopic organisms.

Saul Matas and Craig Ernsberger find interesting results in their lab experiment.

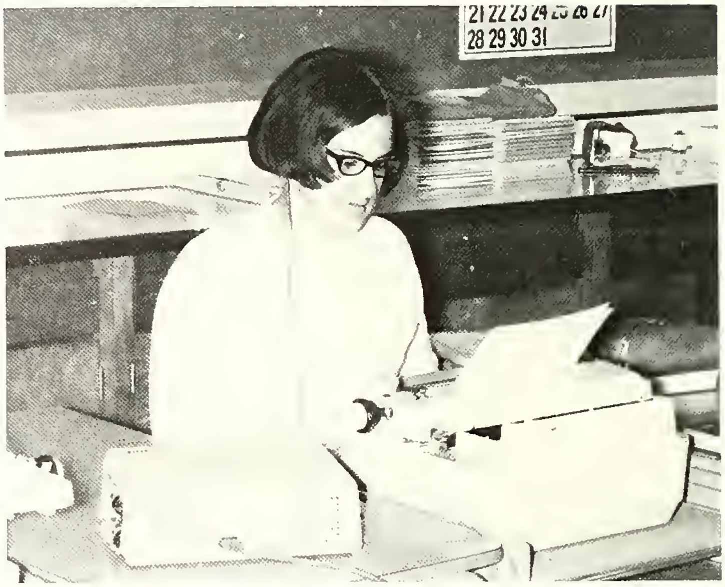
Accounting II is New

Mrs. Virginia Kraus . . . M.S. Ball State . . . Office Training, Shorthand, C.O.E. . . . loves flying.

Mr. Thomas Saunders . . . M.S. Ball State . . . Typing, Intro. to Bus. . . . was Most Valuable Player in football at Elkhart High School.

Mrs. Geraldine Walters . . . M.C.E. Oklahoma . . . Accounting, Notehand and Personal Typing . . . is advisor for Minuteman.

A newly added class of Accounting II provided students with valuable training in the field of business. Introduction to Business was a course which provided general information in business education. Typing and shorthand skills were helpful both to the college-bound student and to the student entering the business world. Instruction for trade occupations was provided through Industrial Cooperative Training, while on-the-job office experience was provided by Cooperative Office Education.



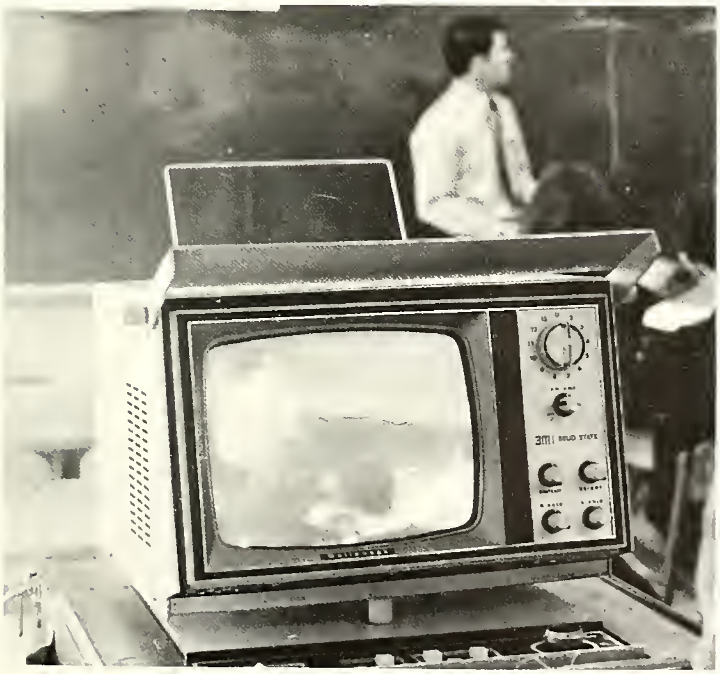
Mary Newcomer completes her assignment at the transcriber.

Karen Wiggins runs off copies at the duplicator.

Mr. Dennis Bodle . . . M.A. Ball State . . . I.C.T. . . . has taught at LaSalle and Jackson.

Mr. Dan Dimich . . . M.A. Ball State . . . General Business, Office Training, Typing . . . was sophomore, junior, and senior class president in high school.

Becky Heideman carefully completes an assignment in filing, given in Office Training classes



Closed circuit television creates learning experiences for students.

Mr. David Gleason . . . B.S. Valparaiso . . . Typing, Business Law, Consumer Economics, Health . . . has taught summer school at Adams and Riley.

Mrs. Connie Hogue . . . B.S. Ball State . . . Shorthand, Office Training . . . enjoys sewing

Electronics is Added

After a two-year absence, Electronics, taught by Mr. VanLaecke, and Power Mechanics, taught by Mr. Baldwin, were again added to the curriculum of the Industrial Arts Department. These courses combined with Machine Processing and Drafting to broaden students' educational opportunity in the vocational field.

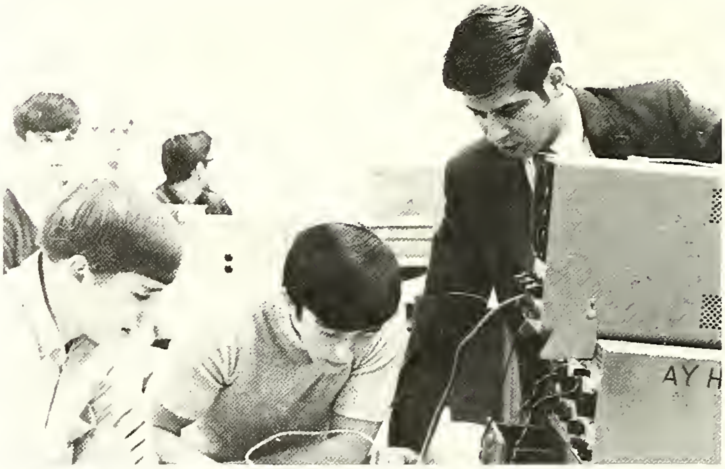
Mr William Baldwin . . . M.S Ind. State . . . Power Mechanics . . . enjoys building dune buggies.

Mr Jack Lowe . . . M.A. Ball State . . . Drafting . . . received twelve varsity letters while attending Peru High School

Mr George Friedman M.S Ind State . . . Mach Processing . . . likes to hunt

Mr Gerald Van Laecke . . . B.S. Ball State . . . Electronics . . . enjoys skiing and boating.

Mr. Dale Scott . . . M.E. Missouri State . . . Drafting, Metal Proc. . . . is interested in music.



With the help of Mr. Van Laecke, Bruce DeWulf and Steve Tomsits perform an experiment on the characteristics of inductance.

Kent Wyatt and Tom Taberski fulfill an assignment for their Auto Mechanics class.

Dave Williams finishes a sanding job.

Department is Expanded

Judy Sloan and Gail Barbieri sew a current project for clothing class.

Mrs. Lois Olson M.A Michigan State. Clothing, Family Living. won a trip to Mexico in 1965.

Mrs. Carolyn Shidaker M.S Indiana Foods, Family Living previously taught at North Liberty High School

Miss Carolyn Jedd B S Indiana . Foods enjoys going antique hunting

With the addition of a third teacher, the Home Economics Department was expanded to include more foods classes. Miss Jedd began her first year of teaching Home Economics with Foods I and Foods II classes. Goals of the department included helping students prepare for the future by training them in foods, clothing, social poise, family relationships, and housing.

With the help of Sara Cole, Judy Holtz prepares a lining for her clothing project.

Sandra Garver and Sharon Cutler prepare their batter and place it on a cookie sheet.

Artists Develop Talents

Changes in the art curriculum included the elimination of the creative craft class to accommodate an additional introductory class. Advanced courses consisting of painting, drawing and graphics, commercial art, and ceramics and sculpture were taken by students who were selected by their performance in Basic Art, allowing serious students to develop their individual talents.

Mr. Raymond Stafford . . . B.S. Indiana . . . Basic Art, Drawing and Graphics, Ceramics and Sculpture . . . visits the Gulf of Mexico during vacations.

Mrs. Bonnie Bruesecke . . . B.S. Illinois State . . . Basic Art, Commerical Art, Painting . . . enjoys painting and other forms of art.

As Mr. Stafford gives instructions, Pete Moffett rolls ink on his linoleum block and prepares to make a block print Careful eyes and steady hands are required as Don Howe and Gary DeBruine work on their projects for Ceramics and Sculpture class.

Karen Landy places the finishing touches on her sculpture.

Practice Makes Perfect

Mrs. Dorothy Powers M.M. Boosevelt . . . Glee Club, Harmony, Swing Choir . . . received "Outstanding Music Student" award with B.S. degree.

Mr. Richard Lovin . . . M.M. Ind. Univ. . . . Band . . . enjoys woodworking

Mrs. Artheda Spencer M.M. Rochester, Eastman School of Music . . . Orchestra, Music Theory . . . plays with the South Bend Symphony Orchestra.

Harmony, which is offered during alternating years, combined with Glee Club, Band, Orchestra, and Music Appreciation to offer music students a well rounded curriculum within the Music Department.

Forming a human Christmas tree during the Christmas concert, and presenting the Spring concert were only a few of the activities of the Glee Club. Band members marched in several parades, and boosted spirit at home games. After accompanying the Glee Club in the Christmas concert, the Orchestra participated in solo and ensemble competition and district orchestra contests.

Glee Club members Evelyn Thornburgh, Becky Heideman, Linda Stopczynski, and Andrea Stamper rehearse a number for a coming concert.

Three members of the brass section of the band concentrate on a difficult passage of their music.

Terry Forrest and Lynn Lee enjoy sight reading through a new piece.

Phys Ed Improves Health

Mental health, drugs, and dating were a few of the many topics discussed by health students. Dramatizations, the annual trip to Beatty Memorial Hopsital, and an actual staging of "The Dating Game" created many real-life experiences.

A variety of games and sports provided Physical Education students with an opportunity for physical development. In spite of the limited facilities, gym students enjoyed tumbling, square dancing, bowling, and playing volleyball.

Miss Joan Mitchell . . . M.A. Indiana . . . Girls' Physical Education . . . enjoys bowling.

Mr. Thomas King . . . M.A Notre Dame . . . Boys' Physical Education . . . was Vice-President of his Junior and Senior classes in high school.

During a course in First Aid, sophomores Sue Towner and Sue Bauer demonstrate a way of carrying the injured with Bill Fassler, while Kent Juday ties a sling on Jean Suter.

Mr. Ray Emrick . . . M.A. Notre Dame . . . Health . . . previously taught at Central High School

Mr. Jim Warren . . . M.A. Ball State . . . Health . . . enjoys building cabinets.

Sophomore Debbie Freel prepares to serve the ball and score another point for her team.

Sponsoring activities to boost school spirit such as decorating the halls to promote athletic events was the main goal of the School Spirit Club. Included was the selling of Snoopy booster buttons and the operating of concessions at football games. Pep assemblies were enlivened by skits and school Spirit Week was highlighted by the hall decorating contest between classes. Culminating Spirit Week, the club sponsored the annual Basketball Homecoming, with the guidance of Mr. Jim Warren, sponsor.

Without the help of the seniors, underclass staff members Pat McFaul, Mary Beringer, Mary Walters, and Libby Lutes complete unfinished work.

Thirteen Clayites shared the job of producing the 38th Minuteman, but the entire student body and faculty often helped. Staff members received training at Valparaiso, Notre Dame, and deGroff workshops, while editors profited from the I.U. Institute. An increase in price to include the paper, plus ads, soc hops, and picture sales, made possible a larger, more colorful book for the distribution dance in May.

Under a new sponsor, Miss Clare Groner, money-making projects for the Colonial included sale of candy, Christmas special, and publication of the Student directory. A smaller staff, led for the first time by co-editors Dawn Broe and Cindy Hunter, coordinated subscription efforts with the Minuteman, and more than doubled the number of subscriptions sold. Two publication dances were sponsored at the beginning of the year to promote sales. The newspaper returned to a bi-weekly publication, with the senior issue going to those seniors who had subscribed and sold as an extra to underclassmen.

New uniforms for all 101 members were worn proudly as the band kept the beat during all home football games. Individual members participated in the April band contest and the annual Solo and Ensemble Contest.

A new winter concert in December added to the yearly Spring Festvial in February was directed and planned by Mr. Richard Lovin. The Memorial Day Parade and the Holiday Parade in November gave the band an opportunity to demonstrate its marching skills.

Money for the expected increase in next year's band was raised by selling fruit cake and candy.

Sponsoring a program of demonstrations and materials, from a pottery wheel to linoleum tools, for the parents attending open house was the first project of the year of the Art Club. Under the leadership of Mr. Raymond Stafford, two dozen picture frames of various sizes were made and hung in different areas of the building to display outstanding students' works of art. This enabled the talent of many students to be shared with the entire school.

Activities for Y-Teen members began November 1 with the annual Mr. Irresistible day and dance, which was followed by a Thanksgiving program featuring folk songs by Jim Balcerski, a Notre Dame student. In addition to decorating Christmas trees for the main office and cafeteria area, active members prepared and distributed food baskets for Christmas, and nut cup favors to Healthwin for Halloween. Valentines and Easter treats went to children's groups. Dances, candy sales, and membership dues supported the club's many projects which included sending delegates to the Summer Conference at Syracuse, and donating money to A.F.S. and the Foods Department for Christmas cookies.

Bob Schell consults with Mr. Dan Dimich, the Club's sponsor, about club meetings.

Hi-Y members practice for the "Has Been—Will Be" basketball game.

Meetings of Hi-Y, under the leadership of sponsor, Mr. Dan Dimich, gave members an opportunity to work out in the gym at the Y.M.C.A. They sponsored the Easter Program, the annual Has-Been, Will-Be basketball game, and also a game with the faculty. In the Inter-City Hi-Y Basketball tournament they were runner up.

To show that sports were important to each student's education was the main reason for the existence of the Letterman's Club, which consisted of a group of athletes who had won their letter in a sport. Earning a letter was a prerequisite for becoming a member.

Doing many of their own cheers, the club formed a cheering block at a number of the basketball games. Other activities included the sale of pins that named the sport in which each athlete lettered. These pins, worn on the sweater, gave added significance to the letterman's sport.

Center Receives Food

Active Human Relations Club members sort food for the food drive.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Patricia Sloan, the Human Relations Club was divided into three branches. Practicing singing to the music of guitars, members of the music section planned to perform at other schools. Other students worked with the student council and attempted to act as a mediator between the council and the student body. Working to give the community a better opinion of Clay, the human relations division dealt mainly with helping the Clay Neighborhood Center.

Projects, sponsored by the Club included three assemblies for the student body, and a food drive for the Clay Neighborhood Center. Club members were also representatives to other civic human relations organizations.

1969 French Club Officers, Debi Kitkowski, Sharon Huston, Sponsor Mrs. Jessie Schille, Daphne Rudhman, and Laurie Bridge.

An April trip to Chicago which included an Art Institute tour, a lunch at Jacques' Restaurant and finished with a shopping spree in Old Town, highlighted the year for French Club members. A French dictionary was traditionally given to a deserving student on Senior Awards day and plans were made to send the future president to the Student Leadership Institute in Bloomington. A spring bake sale and car wash helped finance these projects.

Clubs Have Active Year

Their homecoming float was the first project for German Club members with the guidance of Mr. Charles Reavis. A bake sale and a candy sale financed the club's yearly trip to Chicago where the members enjoyed a German movie, visited the Art Institute and ate in a German Restaurant.

Participating in an annual Chicago trip, the Latin Club, sponsored by Mr. Ralph Radecki, planned a spring Chariot Race. Other projects included planning to send students to conventions and making maps of the Roman Empire.

Getting acquainted with Rimke Haringsma, this year's A.F.S. student, was achieved when she showed slides of her homeland. Vince Carroll also showed slides of his Americans Abroad trip to Brazil. With Mrs. Lois Olson as sponsor the club joined the adult chapter of A.F.S. to provide a potluck supper for area A.F.S. students and their families. Some of these students also visited our school as a part of A.F.S. Week held February 16–20. Planning for next year's student, the club sold candy and sponsored a fish fry and the annual Talent Show to raise money required for expenses.

The goal of the Botanical and Biological Club this year was to rebuild the dome in the court yard, and to prepare their entry for the Science display at the Education Center.

They started plants from seed and sold them to raise money for operation of the club. Some of the plants were used to beautify the grounds around Clay High School, particularly the inner court. Additional plans were made for landscaping the court.

To end the year Mr. Lloyd Johnson, sponsor, and officers planned a trip to Chicago to see museums and planatariums.

Members Gain Confidence

A conference at Butler began the busy schedule for Speech and Debate members, followed by many Saturday events. An overnight trip to Purdue and a radio-TV series highlighted the year. In addition to attending sectional, regional, and state contests, members participated in many events and received points in the National Forensic League.

To participate in activities more oriented to teaching was the goal of Future Teacher members. Activities were tutoring and helping teachers. Credit for Cadet teaching was offered to seniors.

Other projects included guiding at Open House and sponsoring the annual faculty breakfast.

Students Donate Time

Many students gave up study halls to assist in operating the school more efficiently. Answering the telephone and aiding visitors were only a few of the activities of main office workers, while the attendance girls, under the direction of Mrs. Lucille York, gathered attendance sheets and recorded absences.

Counselors appreciated the help of the eight workers who assisted in the production of the guidance news letter in addition to other jobs. Checking out and shelving books occupied the time of library workers, while running errands was the main responsibility of girls who helped Mrs. Helen Manuszak in the nurse's office.

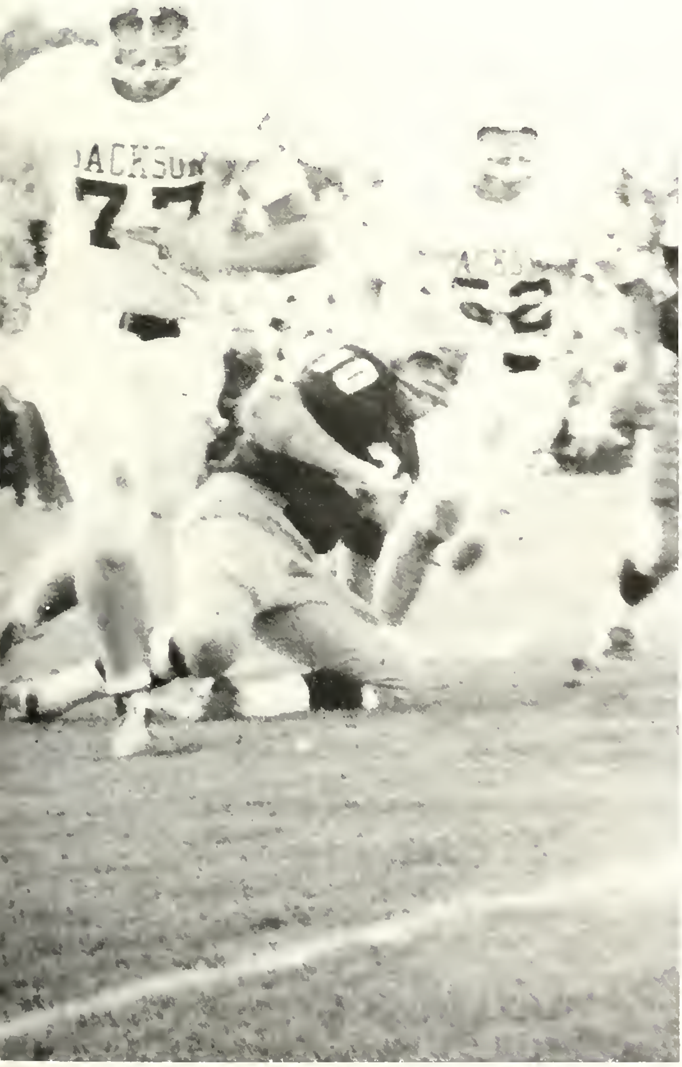
SPORTS



Self-discipline and weeks of grueling practice helped to build co-ordination and endurance, while the spirit of competition spurred athletes on to strive for the thrill of a victory. Sportsmanship, pride, and determination outweighed the anguish and heartbreak of defeat. Through the assistance and guidance of an experienced coaching staff, the ideals of fair play and leadership were instilled into the character of each athlete. Whether depending on individual skill or the cooperation of team effort, the desire to triumph over the opposition prevailed. As the seasons progressed, and the hour for each sport passed, we all contributed in our own way to the enrichment of athletics at Clay High School.

Two Colonials, Jay Parker and Dave Popovic, were selected for first team all-N.I.V.C. honors. A winning season resulted from two years of rebuilding both offense and defense by Coach Jack Lowe. His third year as head coach, assisted by Tom Saunders, lineman coach, and Dave Gleason, backfield coach, produced a 6–3 record. Coach Charles Martin, assisted by Tom King, directed the Freshman team in a 2–4–1 season. Coach Gleason's B-Team finished its winning season with a 4–2 record.

Tennis, in its first season, ended with a successful record of 6–2 for 1969, after close, but winning matches with Riley and Penn High School. The 1970 season of ten meets gives the team more competition; however, the added experience, combined with determination and team spirit, are good ingredients for another winning year. Coached by Eldon Fretz the team made a fine showing its first year.

Finishing second in the conference with a 6–4 record, the 1969 baseball team was trained by Coach Jim Reinebold and backed by ten lettermen. Of 15 wins, the 10 inning victory over St. Joe, the double-header win over St. Joe, Michigan, and the 18–3 defeat of Culver Military highlighted the season.

Outstanding individual efforts were shown by leading pitchers freshman Andy Replogle with a 6–3 record and senior John Niedosik who followed close behind with a record of 5–3–1. Gary King, captain of the squad and most valuable player, held the highest batting average and was trailed by Bob Schell and Jay Parker. The outstanding hitting feats included Larry Bolt's 3 triples against Jackson. All this contributed to the success of the year.

Passing through the halls of Clay, we came in contact with the faces of those we knew and those who were unfamiliar.
In our short time here we formed new friendships and together we met the challenges of many new experiences. As individuals we participated in activities to attain higher goals for ourselves; as a student body we worked to achieve a better reputation for our school. The memories of friends and the joys of accomplishments combined with the excitement of graduation to make all the endeavors of our previous years worthwhile. United, we all contributed to strengthen and improve
Clay High School.

Mr. Norris Lockman, Sponsor.

As mighty seniors we went forth into the 70's with pride and confidence "to make all men our brothers." We trudged to early morning classes, and stewed over contemp. We sought scholarships, a change in the dress code, selected announcements, and were measured for caps and gowns. Anxiously we awaited notice of college acceptance and results from job interviews. As our song, we chose Born Free, with the daisy as our flower. We strutted across the stage, diploma in hand, some with eyes full of tears, all with elation at having completed one phase of our life.

Juniors Jump into the 70's

As jolly juniors, we jumped into prom planning and money making with "Midnight in Central Park" as our theme.
For the first time we had our prom away from Clay and promenaded at the Progress Club.
We experienced anguish when taking PSAT and SAT and delight in completing English term papers and passing U.S. History.
We flinched at the T.B. testing, bragged about winning the Spirit Week contest,
and complained about closed lunch hour.
We remembered the fun of serving the prom and eagerly shopped for our party dresses and selected our tuxes.
We were elected to N.H.S., chosen for C.O.E., and filled out our final class schedules.

Sponsor Mr Daniel Kasper and President Margie Wolfson.

Sophs Swing into the 70's

As silly sophomores,
we swang into the seventies and added
a little life to the lunch hours by installing a juke box in the cafeteria.
The highlight of the year was the ordering of our rings, but we also held the usual car washes and bake sales, and opened the sale of class pins to the entire student body. We suffered the normal casualties in gym, geometry, and health classes; we were nonchalant about our second year of English, science, math, and language but excited about driver education. We jammed on fan busses, yelled at referees, danced after the games, stuffed ourselves at the pizza parlors, and prepared for summer vacation.

Freshmen Fly into the 70's

Our freshman class, largest in Clay's history, was full of spirit as we began our first year in high school. We won the spirit jug, made new friends, froze at football games, and crammed for exams. We put hard work into school projects such as the Human Relations food drive, Spirit Week, and the Christmas seal sale. The thrills of Sadie Hawkins, Homecoming, and Mr. Irresistible were experienced as well as the frustrations of being called itty-bitty frosh. With the encouragement of sponsor Miss Carolyn Jedd we struggled through the usual money-making projects.

SNIPS AND SNAILS AND PUPPY DOG TAILS

Outside the walls of Clay High School the world moved on and we took advantage of the opportunities offered to broaden our experiences. Each of us made our own contribution and we all received something in return.
Whether serving the community
by holding a part-time job, participating in an organization's service project, patronizing local establishments, or just practicing the principles of good citizenship, our efforts resulted in the betterment of the world around us. As time passed and graduation became a reality the hours we spent in the classroom prepared us to take our proper places in the world of business.

The staff is rewarded by Editor Clawson when they fail to meet the final deadline. After "goofing" around at the park, everyone stuffed themselves at Mr. Smorgasbord to make up for many missed meals when they slaved away during all of 4th hour in Room 201.

Editors Welcome New Decade

So runs life for Clayites as together we have said goodbye to the 60's and greeted the 70's with a determination to soar confidently into a new decade which holds a different meaning for every person. For underclassmen it means the close of one year and the anticipation of another at Clay, while for seniors it closes the doors to a world that will never again open.

We hope that looking through the 1970 Minuteman brings back pleasant memories of favorite classes, friends, special occasions, everyday events, and all the experiences shared during the past year.

A dependable staff, working late to meet deadlines, often neglecting homework and depriving themselves of social events, deserve the credit for the production of this book. A special thanks goes to Mrs. Geraldine Walters, sponsor, for her work, and also to deGroff's for their assistance.

We, as editors, hope that on these pages we have successfully captured this year at Clay.
